

The rules are very simple

There are 12 teams in the playoffs. You assign a number to each playoff team 1 being the worst & 12 being the team you think will win the Superbowl

As the teams play each week of the playoffs the teams that win get the points you assigned to it. The losers of each game get 0 points & are eliminated.

Obviously you would assign the 1 to 4 point picks as teams you think will be eliminated the first week

As long as a team keeps winning they keep getting those points.

So obviously the two teams you think will be in the Superbowl will be your 11 & 12 picks & the winner of Superbowl will be your 12 pointer

I am attaching a sample from 2008 as a guide

The first page is how your picks would look before any teams play

The second page is what it would look like after 1st week of playoffs
